

Step one: Select a piece of music. On Monday, be prepared to share with the class some information about your selection.

- What is the selection? Describe it. (instrumentation, style, mood, challenges, etc.) Our selection is called "Charlie Jam Again". It is a jazz piece of music that is light and fun to play.
- Why did you choose this piece of music? We chose this piece because it sounded fun and light.
- What makes your selection appropriately challenging? How will you be challenged through preparing this piece of music? We have to learn how to combine our unusual array of instruments.
- How much time will you need to invest in practicing it to be prepared? As a group we have to utilize our class periods and individually we should practice the piece a couple times a week.
